

Lydia and Christina had an awesome offering for us! There were no obvious theme entries, but there was something peculiar about the grid: a lot of V's. Most of those V's had an I right above them, forming downward facing arrows. This made sense, since the title was "Pointing Towards Success" and indeed those 7 arrows were pointing towards the meta answer, one letter at a time. From left to right, those arrows spelled out VICTORY, an appropriate meta answer.